

Integration

Are you obligated to integrate? You can attend an integration course at Roc-Nijmegen.

With this course you can learn the Dutch language and we will also help you to prepare for the integration exam. As well as following group lessons you are expected to study on the computer and to practice the language in real life situations.

ROC Nijmegen is a school with the quality label Blik op Werk.

Our Courses

- We offer daytime and evening courses.
- Integration course (evening, non-intensive training)
- Integration course (daytime, intensive training)

Integration course (evening) Duration

Depending on your preliminary training, your language level as well as your commitment the length of the course varies from 20 to 80 weeks. Lessons are twice a week. These are sessions of two and a half hours.

With this course you can learn the Dutch language and we will also help you to prepare for the integration exam. As well as following group lessons you are expected to study on the computer and to practice the language in real life situations.

You are expected to study at home on the computer with the help of online programs.

Who is it for?

The course is intended for those who are obligated to integrate.

Integration exam

You will have to prove that you know enough about the Netherlands and that your Dutch is good enough by taking exams at a DUO location.

Admittance

During a free informative interview the length of your course at Roc-Nijmegen will be determined and discussed with you. You can ask all your questions during this interview as well.

Start of your course

We have weekly admissions of new students, with the exception of the summer holiday period.

Costs

Our government requires you to pay for the integration course and its exams yourself. You can pay in installments or alternatively borrow money from DUO (go to www.inburgeren.nl for more information).

Location

Marterstraat 45, Nijmegen

State Exam

If you have a higher level of education you can also integrate by taking the NT2 State Exam B1 or State Exam B2. Check below: Integration with the State Exam \(level B1 or B2\)

Integration with the State Exam (level B1 or B2)

When looking for studies or work in the Netherlands, you may come across the term "Staatsexamen NT2." This refers to the "Nederlands als Tweede Taal" (Dutch as the second language) test which evaluates Dutch reading, writing, listening and speaking skills at a higher level.

The exam has two levels - NT2 level I or the more difficult level II.

The NT2 I diploma is equivalent to the B1 language level as described within the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. The NT2 II diploma is equivalent to language level B2.

Level II is more useful for people with higher preliminary education (aiming for or having already acquired a University or higher vocational training degree) or for those who aim for higher level employment.

The length of the State Exam courses vary, depending on your language level as well as your commitment.

Estimate for a daytime course:

- 30 weeks from A2-B1
- 40 weeks from A2-B2

Estimate for an evening course:

- 40 weeks from A2-B1
- 60 weeks from A2-B2
